How We Use the Internet for Micro Learning and Beyond

Every Friday night gathering includes a 15 minute micro learning session: one practical idea, taught by a neighbour or a guest, ending with something to try at home. The hall's internet connection makes these sessions possible.

MICRO LEARNING

- Video lessons on the hall screen: how to videos and live demos, from food safety to smartphones
- Guest experts joining by video: a firefighter on home fire safety, a local grower on starting seeds, a librarian on spotting scams online
- Learning that goes home: links and handouts shared after every session

AND BEYOND

- Digital confidence for all ages: patient one to one help getting online, video calling family, using everyday services
- Keeping volunteers in step: the team behind Friday nights coordinates online
- Room to grow: reliable WiFi at every gathering, hybrid access for neighbours who cannot attend in person, streaming for local talent nights

Volunteers make a community.
Chili Nights and potluck suppers set a place for us to grow.
